

QUEEN CELL PRODUCTION POWERPOINT TUTORIALS FOR PRODUCING LARGE NUMBERS OF QUALITY QUEEN CELLS

Maggie James has provided tens of thousands of high-quality queen cells, using the Airborne Honey method, and queen bees to commercial beekeepers throughout New Zealand for 18 years. Respected beekeepers available as referees. Previously resource writer & photographer of Certificates in Apiculture Knowledge (Levels 3&4) for a division of Lincoln University

One-off tutorials for commercial beekeepers & long-term experienced hobbyists. Covering colony selection, feeding & colony stimulation, natural pollen sources, royal jelly, setting up a grafting yard, starter & finisher hives, hive manipulations, cell bars & frames & essential accessories, grafting, breeder stock selection, setting up a polystyrene mini mating nuc, setting up & running mini nuc mating yard & banking queens, portable queen cell carrier, non-portable incubator, basic bee biology, & little tips.

Day Five Queen Cells

Tutorials delivered in simple English, using over 250 slides, plus handout.

9.30 a.m. to approx. 2.45 pm, with good reviews and feedback. $190 pp. Break for lunch.

Please bring your own refreshments & food for the day.

Sunday Venues:

30 June: Rotorua (day after conference) Bridgman Rm, The Arts Village, 1240 Hinemaru St

21 July: Springston Hall (opposite school), Leeston Road, Canterbury

28 July: Unitec Campus, Carrington Rd, Mt Albert, Auckland

11 August: Destination on demand

17 August: Masterton Seventh-Day Adventist Church, Cnr Church & Archer Sts

25 August: Invercargill

Saturday Venues:

3 August: Welcome Bay Community Centre, 242 Welcome Bay Rd, Tauranga

Other venues considered, if reasonable support for additional tutorials. Pre-registration & payment required on confirmation, internet banking & cheques must be cleared prior. Bookings close five days prior to tutorial or when maximum numbers reached. GST receipt secures your place. No photography. Note taking welcome

For more information & registration please contact Maggie. Phone: (03) 324 4482 Email: mjqueenb@xtra.co.nz